Ok, it's time to choose your style

Let's get you started.

It's important to remember that you can choose any logo design that you like, even if our mock up suggests a particular industry. If you like it and it speaks to you, then we have a winner. Don't like the mock-up colours we've used? No problem, just choose a colour palette that you like. It's as simple as that! Get started

The Lokidi Design

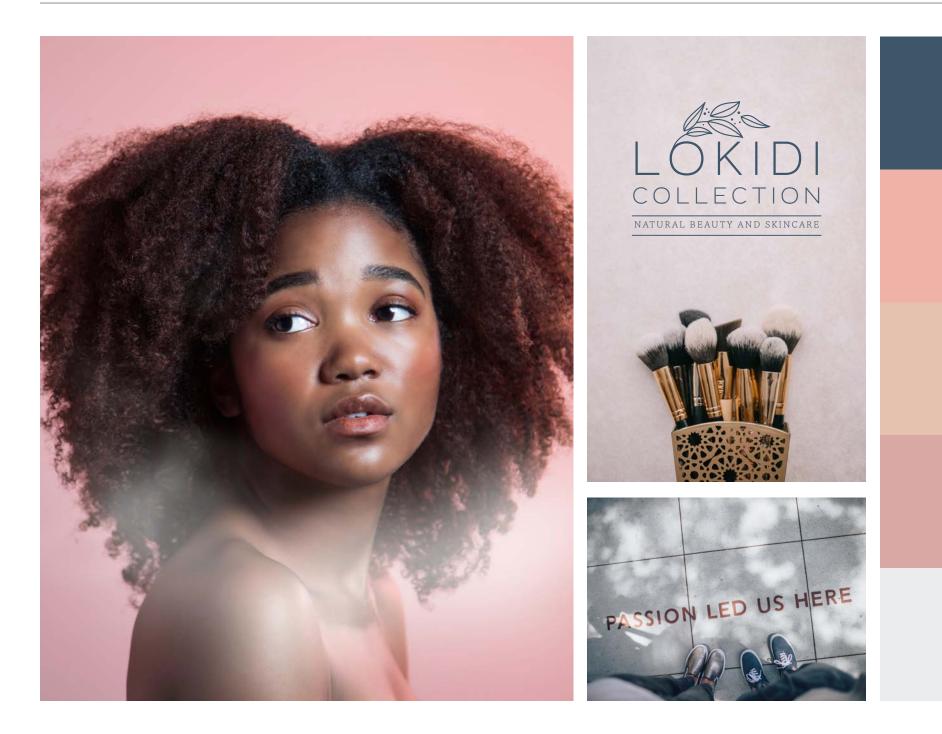

Lokidi is a versatile logo design that can work across a range of industries. Using a modern and clean typographic style and combining it with a line illustration, gives Lokidi a light and feminine feel. Select a different colour palette to give it a more masculine edge and opt to include or remove the leaf icon.

Have any questions?

If you have any questions, read on. We try to clear up any queries you might have before proceeding.

What is the difference between the Basic and Custom packages?

In the Basic Logo Package, we customise your chosen ready-made logo with your brand name and colour palette. If you need branded material like a business card, letterhead and email signature, you should select the Basic Branding Package, which includes your ready-made logo and selected colour palette.

In the Custom Package, we create a unique logo for you with additional add-ons like a stylescape/moodboard and a limited brand guide. It includes branded material like a business card, letterhead and email signature designs. This includes a brand consultation, custom design of your logo, two logo options to choose from and up to three rounds of revisions to refine your selection. A cost estimate will be provided, based on requirements.

I've decided on my ready-made logo style and colour palette. Now, what do I do? Great! Once we receive your order, we'll revert with our Terms of Agreement and an invoice with our bank details. Once payment is received, we'll get cracking.

Can I mix and match elements from two or more logo design options?

No. Once you've chosen your logo design, you must roll with it. We can guide you on what would work best for you, but the decision is yours. If you want something customised, take a look at our Custom Package.

We also offer Premium packages for those with a bigger budget, wanting more.

What if I don't like the result of my ready-made logo?

In some instances, the logo design that you have chosen may not work well with your brand name. We will advise on a logo option that works best with your business and what will not work too. Customisation of design is not available on our basic packages. Fonts, logo layout, and branded material (business card, letterhead and email signature) will not change from the mock-ups presented. Your business name, colours and details appearing on the business card, letterhead and email signature will be changed, but the design remains the same. Should you want a customised design, we suggest our Premium Packages.

What if I love my ready-made logo and I want exclusive rights to it?

We can gladly offer you exclusive rights to a ready-made logo at an additional fee. Once your payment is received, we will remove that logo from our catalogue and not offer it as an option to another brand.

I want something unique for my brand. What is the process?

For an exclusive logo and brand design, choose our Custom Package, which offers you a customised, tailor-made design solution. Once 75% payment is received, we start the process by getting to know you and your brand. We'll research your business and industry, and ask you to answer a few questions about your needs and objectives.

Then we'll submit concepts - up to two logo design options with stylescapes. You'll select your favourite designs, and we'll refine these with any tweaks you want to make, for up to three rounds or revisions. You'll choose your final option, settle the balance of your account and we'll supply your logo in a variety of formats for you to use. Once your artwork is approved, we'll begin to roll out your branded material if you've selected the Custom Package.

If you still have questions, pop us a mail at info@thepencilbox.co.za.
